

The Editorial Board of the Business Studies journal, which is comprised of recognized experts in the field of science covered by the journal, decides that the journal goes into print procedures if the following conditions are met:

- Validation of the subject matter and its importance for researchers and readers;
- All papers are reviewed in a double anonymous review process which includes an external and internal review;
- Editor, deputy editor, other editorial staff and reviewers have noted that there are no possible violations of ethical standards regarding publication and plagiarism in manuscript;
- All papers have been edited and technical preparations have been made.